Activity

This or That

What You Need

Paper, crayons and tape

What You Do

Before the Activity: Sit down with your child and draw two pictures—one of the sun and one of the moon and stars. Tape the pictures on opposite walls.

During the Activity: Have your child stand with you in the center of the room as you call out the activities listed below. If it is a daytime activity, ask your child to jump to the sun. If it is a nighttime activity, ask your child to jump to the moon. Ask your child to rejoin you in the center before calling out the next activity.

Daytime activities include: Go to school, play in the sunshine, eat breakfast, and eat lunch.

Nighttime activities include: Hear a bedtime story, go to sleep, eat dinner, see stars, see the moon.

What You Say

Before the Activity: "Let's play a game with our pictures. Our game area has one side (point to the sun) for daytime and one side (point to the moon and stars) for nighttime. Stand in the center with me and listen closely! When I say something that you do during the day, let's jump to the daytime side. When I say something that you do at night, let's jump to the nighttime side! Are you ready?" (Pause and do activity).

After the Activity: "Way to go! God made everything, including the sun, moon, and stars. Tell me, who made everything? God made everything!"

Prayer

"God, You made so many amazing things! Thank You for giving us the sun, moon, and stars. You can do anything. Thank You for making everything. Amen."
